The Bible is the Word of God and serves as a light to our roadways in life. (Psalms 119:105) Though it was written over a period of approximately 1,600 years and was compiled by forty different men, still, its 66 books relate to each other with a remarkable clarity and cohesiveness. The Bible really is a very large library of history, prophecy and poetry, wisdom and song. It tells the story of Gods chosen seed and their story is a powerful one. Though typeset by modern translators into a small hand held book, one, which can easily be carried daily, yet when typeset in normal fonts and at standard point sizes it is some 3,800 pages long, a considerable book. How then can we make the material of greatest importance within it, really stand out when we read it? Modern tools like the computer have aided us in this search for wisdom and knowledge. For one to know wisdom and discipline, to discern the sayings of understanding. (Proverbs 1:2) To give to the inexperienced ones shrewdness, to a young man knowledge and thinking ability. (Proverbs 1:4) A wise person will listen and take in more instruction, and a man of understanding is the one who acquires skillful direction. (Proverbs 1:5) Men have today used computers to collect together the relationships between each verse in the Bible and all of the other verses that contain similar thoughts. This is known as a Cross-Referenced Bible and usually they contain a substantial listing of scriptural references (231,000 or more), which it is then the responsibility of the reader to look up one at a time, a daunting task. The Bible encourages us to, prove to ourselves the good and acceptable and perfect will of God. (Romans 12:2) This can be a difficult task, but nonetheless a highly rewarding one as many students of the Bible have found. The problem with such printed or book type references, is that the reader has to do a great deal of repetitive searching to find what he is looking for.
