

Early Texas Birth Records 1838-1878

Many persons believe that the birth records in Texas were not kept until 1903. However, the Texas Constitution Convention of 1869 called for the registration of births, deaths and marriages in every organized county such as set up by the legislative action in 1873 and repealed in 1876. A few counties continued to keep birth records of which the number was 43 counties. Of these, 25 counties had their original books. Often when registering a child born during this the years 1873-1878, the parents would list all of their previous children, hence there are many quite early dates, as early as 1838.
