

Railroad Association Work: History, Principles, and Methods, Prepared Under the Direction of the Railroad Department of the International Committee of ... Christian Associations (Classic Reprint)

Excerpt from Railroad Association Work: History, Principles, and Methods, Prepared Under the Direction of the Railroad Department of the International Committee of Young Mens Christian Associations George Williams, the founder of the Young Mens Christian Association, was born in Somerset, England, in the year 1821. His father was a prosperous farmer, but the son, showing no special capacity for farming life, was, after the usual years of schooling, apprenticed to a draper - dry-goods dealer - in the nearby town of Bridgewater. His family were church people but he himself apparently knew little of religion beyond church attendance. Among the employees of the Bridgewater establishment were several earnest Christian young men, and the example of their useful and happy lives resulted in his becoming a sincere and faithful Christian. The few years at Bridgewater were filled with religious activity, and with other Christian young men Williams held meetings at which a number of his I fellow clerks were led into the Christian life.
